Explore a private collection of Indigenous Northern art that features Inuit sculpture, Inuit graphics, and works from 19th-century Alaskan, Northwest Coast, and Old Bering Sea Cultures. The oldest materials in the collection are from St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Strait, and are 1,000 to 2,000 years old. The Alaskan and Northwest Coast objects date from the 19th century and include both objects made for use in daily life or ritual life and objects made for sale to outsiders. The Inuit art collection is a comprehensive study of all regions, styles and subjects, and ranges from mid-twentieth century to contemporary works. Ann’s home is located about an hour from Manhattan and an hour and three-quarters from Philadelphia.

Dinner for two with Deb and Russ McKinnon at the award-winning restaurant Plume, located in the Jefferson Hotel in Washington, DC. Plume has been recognized with the highest Zagat rating in Washington, DC, and the restaurant’s wine program has received Wine Spectator’s Best of Award of Excellence. The Jefferson is Washington, DC’s second most prestigious address. The Jefferson is both European and Washingtonian in style, with tributes to Thomas Jefferson and his beloved Monticello throughout. New discoveries unfold at every turn: private nooks, original Thomas Jefferson-signed documents, a Book Room filled with historic leather-bound volumes on Jefferson’s favorite subjects, and signed editions from contemporary authors who have been among the distinguished guests of this boutique downtown Washington, DC hotel.

First edition of Cookin’ With Guts: Liberating the Inner Chef by Robert W. “Bobby” Goldman

A first edition (1995) of early musings of our own Robert “Bobby” Goldman. No, this is not an amicus brief filed with the Florida Supreme Court. This item passes itself off as a cookbook, but it really is much more. While the pages indeed disclose processes for making delectable food, the proper assignment in the Dewey decimal system would begin with a 100, for Philosophy, rather than where cookbooks are found in the 641s.

The Broad, LA’s Newest Contemporary Art Museum

Donated by: Bonhams
Minimum bid: $500
Fair Market Value: $1,500
Dates/Availability: Dates to be mutually agreed upon.
Contact: Lydia Ganley
Lydia.Ganley@bonhams.com

A VIP viewing experience for up to four people at Los Angeles’ newest contemporary art museum, The Broad, to be followed by dinner for four at one of LA’s most exclusive and equally contemporary restaurants, Otium.

The Broad is a new contemporary art museum founded by philanthropists Eli and Edythe Broad on Grand Avenue in downtown Los Angeles which opened in September of 2015. The Broad houses a 2,000-piece collection of contemporary art from the Broad collection, and features the work of 200 artists, including works by Jeff Koons, Roy Liechtenstein, Ed Ruscha, Cindy Sherman, and Andy Warhol. The museum also features a free-standing restaurant on its plaza, Otium. Eating at Otium is a culinary experience. It is the brainchild collaboration between Broad museum founder, Eli Broad, and renowned Los Angeles restauranteur, Bill Chait.

Otium presents former head chef of The French Laundry, Timothy Hollingsworth, as its executive chef. The restaurant serves New American cuisine and craft cocktails and is designed to invoke social experiences whilst focusing on the quality of the food, warm service, and relaxed casual ambience.

Bonhams is also pleased to offer the winning bidder a complimentary year-long catalog subscription of the collecting category of their choice.
Everglades Backwater Tour
up to 8 people

Donated by: Dragonfly Expeditions
Minimum bid: $50 per person
Fair Market Value: $199 per person
Dates/Availability: dates to be mutually agreed upon
Contact: Charles Kropke
ckropke@dragonflyexpeditions.com
(305) 774-9019

One of the most unexpected and daring journeys in Florida is accessible when you travel the Everglades’ wild backwaters with our trained field biologists and naturalist guides. This is a day of discovery and exploration in one of the world’s most threatened and beautiful wild places: The Florida Everglades and Big Cypress Preserve. First, stroll through the black and white gallery of world-renowned photographer Clyde Butcher. His pictures awaken a true sense of understanding and respect for South Florida’s natural beauty. Next, start the trek at the trailhead for an experience that is only available to 0.1% of all the people who have ever visited the Everglades. While you wade in clear knee-to-waist-deep waters, you will discover lush cypress domes as native orchids and bromeliads hang overhead. You’ll hear why conservationists have described this area as “a beautiful, rugged, subtropical landscape.” After drying off, we move on to a remote and idyllic fishing village in the heart of the Everglades. There we enjoy an authentic lunch grown from the rich glades culture of just-caught seafood and fresh-from-the-ground vegetables.

Fly Fishing on the Private Waters of the Pohoqualine Fish Association
One day during the summer of early fall of 2017 near Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania

Peak Trust Company, formerly Alaska Trust Company now in Alaska and Nevada, will make available a beautiful log home on the Kenai River, which Ernest Hemmingway declared to be the greatest fishing river in the world, for a full week. Easy and beautiful drive from Anchorage. The winning bidder would fly to Anchorage and drive south to the “cabin” which is at mile 37 on the Kenai River, probably the most famous fishing river in the world. The drive is beautiful. The home is down Midway Drive in the town of Sterling on the Kenai Peninsula. The residence has four bedrooms each with king or queen bed and has three bath rooms, satellite TV and a full kitchen. The Kenai Peninsula has some of the greatest fishing in the world. Among other things, it has one of the oldest Russian churches in the United States. Homer, which is about a two hour drive south of Sterling, has labelled itself as the Halibut Fishing Capital of the world. Homer is a fun place to visit. Many spend a day going out of Homer across Kachemak Bay to Halibut Cove, which is a small community which is great fun to visit. There are float trips on the Kenai Peninsula and much more. Also, on the way down from Anchorage, they could stop off in Whittier for a boat ride to see Orcas, bears and other wildlife.

Named one of the World’s 20 Best Surf Towns by National Geographic, New Smyrna Beach is just an hour’s drive from Orlando, Florida, and 30 minutes from Orlando Sanford International Airport. Relax during a one-week stay in this three-bedroom, two-bath, fully-renovated condominium on the ninth floor, end unit. Two wrap-around balconies offer incredible views of the beach and the intracoastal waterway from the living/dining area and the master bedroom. A fully-equipped kitchen with granite countertops makes preparing a snack or full meal a breeze. New furnishings, a washer/dryer, and multiple TVs will make it feel like home. A special feature here is the “beach closet” that includes a beach canopy, chairs, toys, boogie boards, and beach towels. The property is on the no-drive “private” part of New Smyrna Beach and the grounds feature a pool, tennis and shuffleboard courts, and a fitness room. Note that maid service is not available.

Two-night stay in a Traditional Double Room at La Fonda in Santa Fe, New Mexico

Santa Fe’s landmark hotel is situated on the exact corner where reports of an inn in the same location stretch back nearly 200 years or longer. Famed Santa Fe architect John Gaw Meem and celebrated Southwest designer Mary Jane Colter collaborated on the hotel’s distinctive appearance, creating the friendly ambiance that has made La Fonda on the Plaza a beloved landmark for generations. Like Santa Fe itself, La Fonda enjoys a long history of quirky characters and local legends, international renown and community spirit.

Beautiful old place cottage in beautiful Port Clyde, with direct, secluded waterfront in mid-cost Maine. One double bedroom, two single bedrooms, one bathroom; very comfortable and well-equipped but fairly small.

Port Clyde is the southernmost settlement on the St. George peninsula in central/coastal Maine. In the 19th century, Port Clyde became a busy port featuring granite quarries, tide mills for sawing timber, and shipbuilding and fish canning businesses. By the 20th century, the area attracted artists and writers.

The Country of the Pointed Firs was written by Sarah Orne Jewett in St. George, and The Wyeth family, with three generations of accomplished artists, has owned a summer home in Port Clyde ever since N.C. Wyeth purchased “Eight Bells” in the early 1920s. His son Andrew Wyeth long owned property and spent time in the area, as does N.C.’s grandson, Jamie Wyeth. Andrew’s widow Betsy owns two islands off Port Clyde.

The Kansas City Royals are an American professional baseball team based in Kansas City, Missouri. The Royals compete in Major League Baseball (MLB) as a member team of the American League (AL) Central division. The team appeared in the playoffs seven times from 1976 to 1985, winning one World Series championship and another AL pennant, led by stars such as Amos Otis, Hal McRae, John Mayberry, George Brett, Frank White, Willie Wilson, and Bret Saberhagen. The team remained competitive throughout the early 1990s, but then had only one winning season from 1995 to 2012. For 28 consecutive seasons (1986–2013), the Royals did not qualify to play in the Major League Baseball postseason, one of the longest postseason droughts during baseball’s currently expanded wild-card era, and at the time was the longest playoff drought in the four main American professional sport’s leagues (NFL, MLB, NHL, and NBA). The team broke this streak in 2014 by securing the franchise’s first wild card berth and advancing to the World Series. They followed this up by winning their first Central Division title in 2015 en route to their first World Series title in 30 years.

Ranking as the #2 golf course in Connecticut by Golf Digest, the Country Club of Fairfield was founded in 1914 by Oliver Gould Jennings who hired Seth Raynor to design and build the course. A protégé of Charles Blair Macdonald, who was known as the father of golf in America, Raynor crafted a links-style layout that featured versions of many of the best golf holes in the British Isles. It officially opened in 1921 and Hall of Fame golfer Walter Hagen was among those in attendance that first day. Architects A.W. Tillinghast and Robert Trent Jones Sr. also added their touches over the years and the result is a layout that not only serves as a superb members course but also as a challenging venue for tournaments such as the Met Open, the Connecticut Open and the Met PGA Championship. The winning bidder and two guests are invited to join Fellow Peter Mott for golf and lunch.

Oklahoma City Thunder

Two tickets in the club section on the center line of the court during the 2017-2018 season at Chesapeake Energy Arena in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

The Thunder are the only team in a major professional sports league located in the state of Oklahoma. They play in the Northwest Division of the Western Conference in the National Basketball Association (NBA). Formerly the Seattle SuperSonics, the team relocated in 2008 after a dispute between owner Clay Bennett and lawmakers in Seattle, Washington. In Oklahoma City, the Thunder qualified for their first playoff berth during the 2009-2010 season.
Four tickets to the Miami Heat versus Washington Wizards Game on April 12th, 2017 in Miami, FL

Donated by: ACTEC Fellows at Gunster
Minimum bid: $125
Fair Market Value: $380
Dates/Availability: April 12, 2017

The Miami Heat compete in the National Basketball Association (NBA) as a member of the league’s Eastern Conference Southeast Division. They play their home games at the American Airlines Arena in downtown Miami. Formed in 1988 as an expansion team, the Heat have won three league championships (in 2006, 2012 and 2013), five conference titles and 11 division titles. From February 3 to March 27, 2013, the Heat won 27 games in a row, the third-longest streak in NBA history (after the 2015–16 Golden State Warriors’ 28 wins and the 1971–72 Los Angeles Lakers’ 33 wins).

A round of golf for three at Riviera Golf Club, with caddy, cart, and breakfast or lunch

Owning a legendary place on the American golfing landscape, Riviera's famed George Thomas-designed golf course has hosted one U.S. Open, two PGA Championships and a U.S. Senior Open, in addition to serving as the perennial site of the PGA Tour's Northern Trust Open. Legends like Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Sam Snead, Tom Watson, Nick Faldo, Fred Couples and Phil Mickelson have all tasted victory here, while celebrities like Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and Dean Martin have long graced its fairways. Humphrey Bogart could often be spotted watching the pros play from under the Sycamore tree by the 12th green, and it was on these historic links that the fresh ocean breezes helped Howard Hughes whittle his handicap down to a four.
Two tickets to a Washington Capitals Home Game

Watch to see how professional ice hockey star players Alexander Ovechkin, Nicklas Backstrom and Mike Green perform under head coach Barry Trotz during the 2017 or 2018 season in Washington, DC. Since their founding in 1974, the “Caps” have won one conference championship to reach the 1998 Stanley Cup Finals, and captured nine division titles. Before or after the game or at another time, stroll two blocks from Verizon Center for fine dining at Ruth’s Chris Steakhouse with a $150 gift card. Two Center Ice Tickets, 7th Row, Behind the Benches

Boston Red Sox
Two tickets to the Patriot’s Day game on April 17, 2017 in Section 27, Row 9, Seats 13 and 14.

Donated by: Melissa Langa and Jeff Wulfson
Minimum bid: $50
Fair Market Value: $125
Dates/Availability: April 17, 2017
Contact: Melissa Langa langa@bovelanga.com (617) 720-6040

The game is Monday, April 17 vs vs. The Tampa Bay Rays. Seats are in Section 27, row 9, seats 13-14. Nice seats, but not premium level. Note that April 17th is “Patriot’s Day” in Boston, a holiday, and the day of the historic Boston Marathon. Fenway Park is right on the race course, and after the game many fans go over to Beacon Street to cheer on the runners. Since the horrific bombing three years ago, the passion in town for the Marathon is even more crazy than it ever was.
Conditions of Sale for Benefit Auction

The property and other items included in this auction ("Auctioned Articles") will be offered and sold by the ACTEC Foundation (the "Foundation") at a silent auction at the ACTEC Annual Meeting in Scottsdale, Arizona, from 6:30 pm to 7:30 pm on Thursday, March 9, 2017 during the President’s Welcome Reception.

The Foundation may, in its discretion, permit bids by electronic mail before the Annual Meeting, or at the Annual Meeting before the auction. The auction and the Auctioned Articles offered for sale at the auction are subject to the following terms and conditions, as amended by any posted notices or oral announcements before or during the auction:

1. All Auctioned Articles are sold “as is,” and the Foundation makes no representations or warranties of any kind or nature, expressed or implied, with respect to the Auctioned Articles, and in no event shall the Foundation be responsible for the correctness of any catalogue or descriptions of the Auctioned Articles offered for sale. No statement in any catalogue, notice, or description or made at the auction, in any bill of sale invoice or elsewhere, shall be deemed such a representation or warranty or any assumption of liability.

2. All Auctioned Articles have been pledged or donated to the Foundation by fellows and friends of ACTEC. The Foundation has no responsibility in the event the donor of an Auctioned Article offered for sale fails to complete the donation, but in that event the Foundation will refund to the purchaser the amount of his or her bid.

3. Any and all Auctioned Articles offered for sale may be withdrawn by the Foundation at any time before the actual sale without any liability therefor.

4. The Foundation reserves the right to reject a bid from any bidder. The highest bidder acknowledged by the Foundation at the close of the auction shall be the purchaser. In the event of any dispute between bidders, the Foundation shall have sole and final discretion either to determine the successful bidder or to reoffer and resell the article in dispute. If any dispute arises after the sale, the Foundation’s sale records shall be conclusive in all respects.

5. If the Foundation determines that any opening bid is not commensurate with the value of the article offered or any applicable minimum bids, the Foundation may reject the same and withdraw the Auctioned Article from sale, and if, having acknowledged an opening bid, the Foundation decides that any advance thereafter is insufficient, the Foundation may reject the advance.

6. Checks or credit card payments should be payable to the ACTEC Foundation.

7. The Foundation is not responsible for any errors or omissions in connection with the making or transmission of bids, by electronic mail or otherwise.
